

Call for contributions

The Educational Linguistics Special Interest Group of the International Association for Research in L1 Education (ARLE) invites you to participate in the next SIG Seminar to discuss Linguistics for language teaching and learning.

Welcome to University of Białystok, Poland, June 26–27, 2018!

How linguistic research can help in L1 education, especially in language teaching and learning is the focus of this seminar. In this context the seminar invites all interested colleagues to propose a paper in one of the following areas of interest relating to teaching and research in L1 education:

- Improving linguistic education (theory, practice, assessment, teaching materials)
- Role of linguistics (grammar for communication, grammar for language skills, grammar and genres / multilingualism / culture / language awareness)
- Metalinguistic knowledge in L1 and L2
- Educational linguistics for specific purposes
- Grammar and linguistic experience in language teaching and learning (language acquisition / cognitive development / teachers' and students' cognition and grammatical experience)
- Measurement of linguistic skills

You can choose between a short presentation with a poster and more discussion (e.g. 8-9 min. comments for the poster and 30 min. discussion for 4 posters) and the usual full presentation (20 min.).

We are also offering a poster session for PhD students. It is an opportunity to exchange ideas, knowledge and experiences, and to discuss ongoing research with experts.

Submission of contributions

The submission deadline for all paper and poster abstracts of 150–300 words is January 15, 2018. Please, send your abstract to Michał Citko – m.b.citko@gmail.com. The notification of acceptance will be sent no later than February 1, 2018. For more information please contact Elżbieta Awramiuk – elaawramiuk@gmail.com.
